TOO OFFICIOUS

Chinese Protest Against Policemen.

Mass Meeting In Hilo Hears Warm Talk About Treatment of Celestials.

The propensity of the local police force for indulging in indiscriminate raiding, more especially in quarters where it is least needed and upon people who are least able to resist it, is too well known to require comment, says the Hilo Tribune. This state of affairs was signally illustrated on Saturday and Sunday evening of last week and the facts connected therewith are pretty well known.

On Sunday evening a mass meeting of Hilo Chinese was held to take action relative to the matter, at which addresses were made by leading Chinese. Ah Holt, one of the speakers, said:

"Every one knows that the Chinese are a conservative race and that they would rather endure a severe persecution than stand up for their rights. I think that is one thing that encouraged those fellows to treat us so barbarously, and let me tell you right here that unless we take some steps to get redress from the authorities we will be treated still worse in the future."

"It would take me hours to cite to you all the different instances where our countrymen have been robbed and abused, but as these affairs are past and gone, I will only mention the two that occurred last night and tonight."

"On Saturday night one of my clerks was riding a wheel about fifteen feet from the store. Peter Elemakule came up and jerked him off the wheel. He took the wheel to the station house, and then came down again to arrest the boy for riding on the wheel. As soon as he got sight of him he grabbed him by the neck and tried to throw him down. Tong On stepped out and asked him why he handled the boy in such a manner, and Elemakule knocked him down. After they were separated Norman Lyman ran out of the Kandy Kitchen and struck Tong On three severe blows. He did not know what was going on, nor did he try to find out before he struck the blows."

"Can you tell me why he struck Tong On? I would say simply because he is a Chinese. Most of you have seen how Peter Elemakule, William Kealani and N. Lyman treated the laundrymen tonight, so it is not necessary to repeat it. But I would like to know what right have they to enter one's store to search without a warrant? or of assaulting the men because they refuse to show them their tax receipts on Sunday? or of breaking into a room and taking many things away while the owner is not there? Can you tell me why they did it to us? I would say simply because we are Chinese."

"Now these things have gone too far and must be stopped in some way. As Sheriff Andrews is the chief executive officer of this island, and an honest man, as I have reason to know personally, I think he is the proper man to go to and demand protection. I think it is best to appoint a committee of fourteen to wait upon the Sheriff and lay the different instances before him. I feel pretty sure that some understanding can be reached in that way; but in case we could not obtain any satisfactory redress we must send our petition to the proper authorities in Honolulu until some sort of protection can be secured. Let me conclude by requesting you to stand firmly together, but do not do anything that goes beyond the limits of law. We are merchants of these islands, we pay taxes and licenses just the same as others do, and therefore I think we are entitled to the full protection of the law. Did you ever hear of a police officer who entered a white man's residence and searched his place without a warrant? No, they only treat Chinese in that way."

The deputation appointed at the meeting waited upon the Sheriff, and was received in a manner most satisfactory to themselves. The Sheriff censured the action of his subordinates and asserted that he would make it a point in the future to see that such utterly unwarranted procedure on the part of those clothed with a little authority should not occur. Two of the principal officers were dismissed from the force and the third is believed to be on the "ragged edge."

The Chinese have also retained Carl S. Smith to prosecute to the full extent of the law the cases of those assaulted.

A BRUTAL HUSBAND.

While Drunk He Nearly Kills His Wife With a Knife.

A native woman was brought to the police station yesterday about noon, with her nose, forehead and cheeks deeply gashed by a knife wielded by her husband while the latter was drunk. Even her hands had not escaped several ugly looking gashes, and she presented a pitiable appearance while asking for police assistance.

She rode back to her house in the patrol wagon with the officers, where the husband was found lying in a drunken stupor. When brought to the station house he was in a beastly condition, and probably does not yet realize the seriousness of the charge against him. Before the woman's wounds were dressed she was taken before Judge Wilcox to give him an idea of the fearful cuttings she had received.

Boil the Water.

Editor Advertiser:—Water from our upper valley reservoirs and mountain rills, as well as that caught on house-roofing, or in any way contaminated by poison breeding bacilli should be boiled about ten minutes, then cooled and if necessary strained or filtered.

Filtering is not absolutely necessary for immediate use. But for medical or dietetic use, filtering, if the filter is clean, is necessary.

Chinamen, perhaps owe their immunity from fevers, compared with Hawaiians who are not so careful about drinking water, to boiling water used for tea drinking.

For hundreds of years all agricultural laborers among the Chinese have drunk tea. City people, if very poor, are not all able to boil the water before drinking.

Let us be careful to lock out the microbes before they swarm in our low reservoirs, mountain streams as well as the ponds near the sea.

CLUES WON OUT.

Henry Bolster Was Worsted on the Street and in Court.

Henry Bolster was arraigned in the District Court yesterday for assault and battery on Officer Wills while the latter was on duty. When Bolster ran afoul of Officer Wills his pugilistic attitude was humbled in a hurry and he was taken to the station house. Judge Wilcox thought the occasion called for a lecture of the good old kind, and he gave it without reserve.

He said that under such circumstances the policeman's club could be used to good advantage on offenders. "Working up Dutch courage to do bodily harm to others by taking in an extraordinary supply of intoxicants," was something he wanted nipped in the bud. He harried others by taking in an extraordinary Belster to hear the Judge lecture on "Municipal Clubs."

Young Girls

How easy it is for young girls to go into the "decline." They eat less and less, become paler and paler and can hardly drag through the day. They are on the steady downward course. Iron does them no good; strychnine and biters all fail. They need a food that will nourish them better, and a medicine that will correct their disease.

Scott's Emulsion

is both of these, elegantly and permanently combined. The Cod-Liver Oil makes the blood richer, and this gives better color to the face. The hypophosphites of lime and soda act as a strong tonic to the nerves. Soon the weight increases, the digestion improves and health returns.
